

Megan Turner Ginsberg

Inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1999

Megan Turner was a 1982 graduate of Washington. From 1979 to 1982, she did not sleep! Megan was very involved during her three years at Washington, singing with Concert Choir and Momentum, becoming a Thespian thanks to parts in various musicals and comedies, holding positions with student government, and cheering for Warrior football and men's basketball every year.

After receiving her B.A. degree in Art and Art History from the University of Iowa, she became publicist and graphic artist for Theatre Cedar Rapids. Megan has performed on the TCR stage in leading roles and has distinguished herself as recipient of an Outstanding Performance Award at the Midwest Regional competition for the American Association of Community Theatres. Aside from her community theatre involvement, Megan has also performed with Liars Theatre, the Follies, and Classics at Brucemore.

Megan has been able to successfully freelance, while being a full-time mom, doing both on-camera and voiceover work locally and in various markets across the country, as well as modeling for many companies. She is co-host of Alliant Energy's Powerhouse, a regional weekly television program, now in its eighth year; she is vocal host for the Mel Foster Home Show, a real estate home show in the tri-state area; and she is the spokesperson for Chezik-Sayers in Eastern Iowa in commercials, personal appearances and radio.
