The Shields Family has been extraordinarily active in the Washington High School Performing Arts since 1998. Emily Shields - now Hauser - graduated in 2001 and was active as a show choir techie, charter member of Fine Arts Technicians, and has returned every year since graduation to volunteer for Mo Show; Alex Shields participated in Vivace and Celebration, CWC choir was a sound technician for Slice of Jazz, a pit section leader in marching band, a percussionist for the Wind Symphony and a keyboardist for the jazz bands; Cooper Shields was active in show choir all four years, a member of Madrigals, as well as participating in band and marching band, a Performing Arts Technician, a member of the speech team and was visible onstage as a very memorable Elwood P. Dowd in Harvey. Randy and Lisa Shields' involvement has been extensive. They've been PPA officers, Choir, Band and Drama reps, chaperoned many show choir and band trips. Their most notable efforts have been toward the Buy It For a Song Auction and Mo Show; Randy was an integral part of the team that set up the initial video shoot, and Lisa organized and ran the sales end. They both were part of the backstage team that for over five years managed the stage for the Fab Five. The entire Shields Family still volunteer and contribute to WHS Performing Arts Events to this day.
